

Stars

Read it out loud. Trace each dotted line, then write it on the line below.

Stars are giant balls of hot gas. They look tiny because they are so far away. On a clear night you can see thousands of them.